In the late 1990s our clients, EJ Darlington Garages Ltd, were looking for a site to relocate a motor dealership premises where they had outgrown their existing facilities.

Land owned by the then Commission for the New Towns, together with Harlow Council, was identified at the junction of River Way and Edinburgh Way, in a very prominent position, but which had remained undeveloped for many years.

Having negotiated an acquisition of the whole site, extending to some four acres, DWW obtained planning consent for 2 no. motor dealerships, together with 2 no. industrial/warehouse buildings. One of the two dealership sites was sold off to part finance the relocation of the main Renault dealership site from Old Harlow.

DWW's Design Team project managed the whole scheme.

More recently DWW has secured a transfer of the main dealership premises to Lancaster Plc to provide an improved and expanded showroom and workshop facility for VW in Harlow.
